POMONE Orange Wine

With its lovely pale orange colour with flashes of yellow, this wine is characterised by the freshness of its aromas, rarely found in this type of skin contact wine, with almond and quince followed up by more mineral, flinty notes. Not overly tannic in the mouth, but well balanced and elegant, with luscious quince, sorb-apples and pear, and berry fruit such as arbutus and sloes on the finish. Its overall harmony and balance mark this out as a gastronomic wine, destined to accompany food. The architecture of the blend promises superb evolution in bottle, with the complexification of aromas built on superb bitter and nutty, oxidative notes. We were completely won over by the result of this first vinification and this wine that we are certain holds many great things in store for us in the future.
