Vinification

The grapes are destemmed, followed by a three-hour skin maceration, then pressed. Static settling is then carried out to separate the clear from the earthy must, which is then discarded. Alcoholic fermentation took place at 15°C for 20 days, protected from the air to preserve the freshness and fruity notes detected in the grapes.

The wine is then racked to remove the coarse lees from the fermentation and left on the fine lees for three months.
